Q: What would cause a plot to melt in Illustrator? I don't have access to a machine with Illustrator, so I had to ask my question here. I've recently been working on a series of design icons and I've come across one which melted when I tried to build it up. At first I thought it was because of the blue colour and the layered transparency, but I'm not sure.

I'm not sure why it's melting, but I can tell you what it's supposed to look like (and hopefully someone can help me work out why it's melting). The base colour of the icon is black, and its content is of a dark red with light yellow and red (also with the same transparency). The shape of the icon looks like a pie chart. The top of the pie is blue with light green. The middle of the pie is red with light yellow and red. The bottom is green with blue and a lighter red. There is a dark red background. Can someone help me out?

A: I'd say create a new shape (maybe a pie chart) and set it as a clipping mask so that it's content remains visible. Then adjust the colour, using something like the eyedropper tool. 3da54e8ca3
